I, Peter Urquhart, leave to Mr. Packard and Mr. Roy the memories of the Class of "81"
I, Joseph J. Verna, leave to the Plumbing Shop all my hell raising memories.
I, Diane Vozzella, gladly leave the McDonald Circle gang, Bus 5, and Mrs. Murphy.
I, Richard Wallace, leave to the Sophomore Class my inspiration for trouble and my forged notes.
I, Paul Watson, leave to Mike Lewis my corridor passes.
I, David Webster, leave to Anybody who wants it, all the junk I'm going to leave in my locker at the end of the year.
I, Ken Whalen, leave to my brother, Kevin, four years of Mr. Gurrie.
I, Robert Whitney, leave to Tri-County my fine reputation.
I, Debbie Yee, leave to Mr. Feeley my trig book and my notebook.

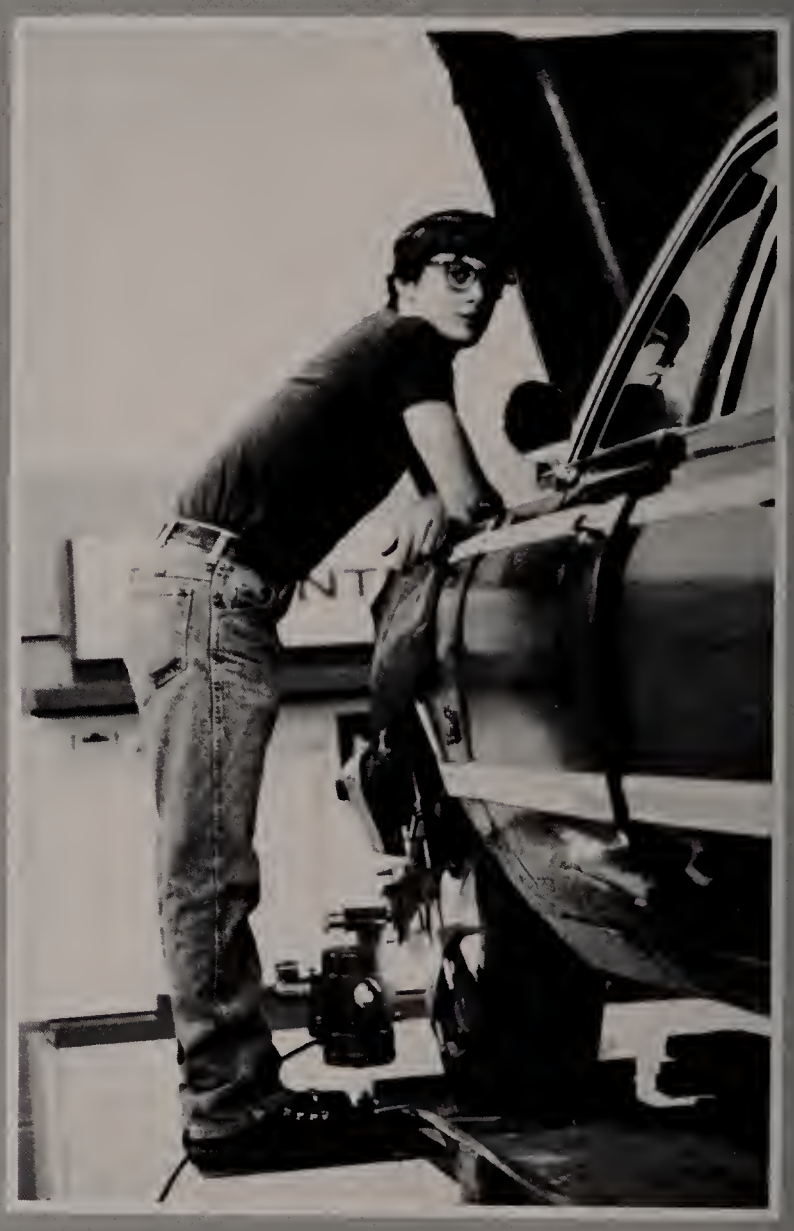
AUTO REPAIR

"I think auto repair is the best shop in school," says Philip Seal. He enjoys the pride of successfully doing a job, and seeing it come out right. There is a myth about auto repair. Many people think anyone can be a certified mechanic, but you actually must know a great deal. Engines are changing every day, and a good mechanic has to keep up with the times. Mechanics today are but one of the many skilled workers in the job market, but surprisingly enough, it is in the top ten paying jobs around. Mechanics are in high demand, and it is grateful to know that Tri County students will get the experience needed before actually going out into the world of work.

PHILLIP SEAL



AUTO BODY

When one first walks in the door, it is the sense of smell, not sight, that captures the visitor's attention. Once you are used to the sweet aroma of paint & plastic dust, you will notice students working. One look at the students busily sanding, masking, brazing and painting will tell you that this is their trade. The price can be seen in the finished product - a shiny, newly painted car.

PAUL DRISCOLL

AIR CONDITIONING

This is a shop with three major phases: Air Conditioning, solar heating, and Refrigeration. Most of the work done is on domestic appliances, such as refrigerators or freezers. We also do work on industrial appliances, such as walk-in freezer used in supermarkets. We learn how to pipe in systems, add gas, fix leaks in the system, and work on various types of compressors.

DON READEL

SHEET METAL

This is a shop where we do a lot of work and are proud of it. Once we had an outside job to make a hood elbow and a square piece of duct. It took us longer than it should have, but when finished, none of us had made a mistake and it came out right to the dimensions that were specified.

The man that had given us the job was so appreciative that he took a picture of the pieces that we had made and offered to buy us lunch. This gave us pride in what we did. We enjoyed the challenge.

MICHAEL CORSINI

CARPENTRY

The carpentry shop is one of the most popular shops in the school. Carpentry was the field that most of the teachers elaborated on. However, since the beginning of the previous school year, a new branch has opened up extensively. Cabinet making is a choice of more than half of the students. However, both areas are a part of the shop. Everyone in this shop is dependable and each person relies on one another. We consider the shop as a small family. We are always busy and continuously meeting new challenges and learning new jobs.

ANTHONY PISANI

PAINTING & DECORATING

P & D is a shop of many colors. It is creative thinking and designing. P & D consists of interior, exterior preparations of surfaces and the covering of those surfaces. We finish and refinish old furniture as well as new. As we progress, we learn about the elements of design and color coordinations. It becomes important to know the different types of wallpaper, varnishes, stains, and the right tools for each job. Woodworking is also a big part of P & D. Learning how furniture is made and what the different types of wood are is important. Each thing learned is taken one day at a time and in turn, the finished product is a work of skill.

MARY BETH ZINNI

METAL FABRICATION

Better known as Metal Fab, this is one of the most productive shops in the school. For the most part, we work with pride. We have made many things, such as wood burning stoves, scrolls, and other small projects that people want done.

Also, we weld and work with metal all day. It may seem boring to weld all day long but we are proud that we may become some of the most expensive and experienced welders in the U.S. or even the world.

JAMES VANBRUNT

MASONRY

Masonry Shop is the best shop in the whole school. It is where you learn the basics. Everything that is built today has something to do with masonry because everything has to have a foundation.

RICK THIBODEAU

MACHINE SHOP

Machine shop is truly one of the hardest courses that Tri-County offers. Students work with expensive precision instruments and learn the procedures of an all-round machinist. They are responsible for making their own tools & buying tool boxes. These tools will later be used on co-op and will boast the student's value. The basics of computer numerical control, a new field in machine technology, is now being taught. Learning these techniques is an enjoyable experinece.

JOHN COURNOYER

PLANT MAINTENANCE

We do various things in this shop. One is to repair or rebuild small engines. Also, we do various types of welding. We have three arc welding machines and two oxygen acetylene tanks that we use for brazing. Plumbing is in the shop so we may learn how to thread pipe. We also have a machine shop and a carpentry shop. Basic electricity is another one of our accomplishments.

JOHN WILSON

PLUMBING

We work mostly on soil pipe packing lead and oakum. The lead is poured and cooked with inside and outside irons. It is then put through the floor for bathroom fixtures. We send the stack about 1" less than the ceiling. Then we run cold water to the fixture by copper tubing.

We do work for other shops in the school. All of the experience we are gaining at Tri-County gives us hope for a bright future.

KEVIN LOVELY

CHILD CARE

My feelings toward Child Care are that it is a very rewarding shop. We are giving love and receiving love back. Children are very humorous and have a great deal of curiosity. When we receive a hug, smile, or laughter from a child, it gives us a great feeling inside. Our teachers have taught us a great deal on how to handle children.

KATY ORLANDO

DISTRIBUTIVE ED

D.E. is the study of marketing and distribution. In tenth grade, students work in the D.E. store. They, not the teachers, run the store. Buying merchandise, taking inventory, and selling is done by the student. As a junior, most students are eligible to be trained in whatever aspect of D.E. they show excellence in or choose to follow. This is done by allowing them to work in a community business.

All the training received in the past two years finally pays off in senior year. Students can now go out and be paid for working. Some seniors may find themselves leading toward management.

BRUCE DRAPEAU

FOOD OCCUPATIONS

Fast Foods, the most popular shop at Tri-County, is found on the lower level, in the north wing. A simple but varied menu is offered at very popular prices, making lunch for teachers at Tri a "happening."

Most items are made on the premises by the students, on demand. As students prove they can master food skills, then enrich Tri-County and overcome handicaps that in past years seemed insurmountable.

COMMERCIAL ART

In comparison with other trade schools in our area, Tri-County's Commercial Art Department is one which not only trains a student for a job in the field of advertising, but also helps the student discover his or her own individual artistic talents. The course involves learning different techniques of drawing, studying the shapes and styles of type, forming layouts, using different mediums for projects in shop, and draws attention to the many ways in which to advertise. Many of the students have done 'live' jobs, such as business and personal logos, Christmas cards, and designing the school newspaper.

Many people don't realize that the field of Commercial Art is rapidly growing and changing, involving many things in our everyday lives which one wouldn't even think of.

COLLEEN JORDAN

CULINARY ARTS

The Culinary Art Program at Tri-County has a lot to offer and is a very interesting trade. We learn how to run a restaurant. Ours, called the Rainbow Room, serves the public. We are taught how to communicate with them. All the work in the dining room is done by the students. Everyone does their job which makes us very well organized.

In the kitchen part of the program we are taught how to prepare a wide variety of main dishes, deserts, soups & many other foods. We are taught how to properly run the equipment and how to make our service just right to please our customers.

In our bakery, the products are made from scratch. We learn how to measure & use the mixing equipment.

Then there is our related course which teaches us all about hotel/motel management, owning our own restaurant and the basics of preparing food.

A lot of hard work is put into this program by the students and teachers.

LEEANN O'DONNELL

COSMETOLOGY

From the time man stepped on this earth, he has had a growing interest in making himself look better. Whether it be by using the most primative means or by using advanced ideas, there is always that need to look better We, as students of Cosmetology, are studying and working to satisfy this need. As a part of our shop training, we learn to work on the different types of people we may have to work on in a salon. We gather knowledge of "playing-up" a person's good qualities and "playing-down" their bad ones. It is a very glamorous field.

MARY MATHEWS

DRAFTING

In our four years of studies at Tri-County, the shops of the school have shaped up into good learning places for those interested in the vocational and technical fields. One such technical shop is drafting. One of the more advanced fields in the school, it has become the equivalent to what other schools teach. The lessons, though at times not well liked, have helped to make us become a part of what is a great field.

In the three plus years of the course, we have gone from basics through mechanical drawing, and finally, midway through the senior year, archetectural drawing, with dimensions or just ideas turned into drawings. At times it seems as if we'll never quite get it, but somehow do.

ANONYMOUS

ELECTRONICS

The Electronics shop serves the people who would like to go into the electronics or computer field. It deals mainly with making circuits and using test equipment to gain knowledge of different components and techniques used.

There is also a radio electronics course that everyone must take. This course deals with the basics of radio technology. There will soon be a radio room in the school for all licensed students to run.

The computer, or digital course, does not start until the senior year. Students learn how computers are made, how to take them apart and repair them, and how to program them.

ANDY MICHAUD

ELECTRICAL

It is 9 o'clock in the morning. Everyone is busily at work. In one corner of the shop the freshmen are at work in their assigned booths. They are just being introduced to electrical, and are performing the simplest forms of bell wire circuits. At the other end of the shop, there are booths where some juniors are at work doing more complicated jobs with higher voltages. Next to the door of the shop there is a house made by carpentry. Inside, other juniors are readily at work wiring the complete electrical system of the house. Adjacent to the house is the tool crib, where there always seems to be an endless line of people waiting for tools and equipment.

JODY FOLEY

HEALTH

Health Services is a very meaningful shop. Many things are taught that will help in the future. For example, we have been taught basic first aide, C.P.R., how to become a nurses aide or a dietary aide. We also learn how to cope with elderly people.

The Health Services program has started what we call "field experience." It's basically the same as co-op, but it is all volunteer work. As a freshman, a student will learn temperature, pulse, and respiration, blood pressures, how to make an occupied bed, a surgical bed, and an unoccupied bed. Also taught is basic foot care, and oral hygiene. Health takes a great deal of common sense and a lot of hard work and practice.

DEBBIE NEYLON

GRAPHIC ARTS

Running any press takes a person that is good with machines. When the press is running it has to be constantly monitored. Every adjustment must be perfect and watched intensely.

On offset presses the balance between water and ink is critical. Without a proper balance many problems will arise. A good pressman can see the problem before it happens and can stop it.

1980 SOCCER SEASON

September 8th saw Tri County Soccer Team off to a flying start with a 9-1 victory over Norfolk Aggie. Peter Rogers showed from the start that he was one of the top players in Mass. by scoring 4 goals and 1 assist. Keith Carlson also let it be known that he had his sights set high, scoring 2 goals and 3 assists. Before the season ended, these two players notched up between them a record that will stand for many years at Tri County - 55 goals and 30 assists; a total that surpassed the total of half the league teams combined.

Even without these two players the team scored another 32 goals and our goalie, Jim Thomas, only allowed 23 goals against having 6 shut outs. The final season record was 15 wins, 3 losses and 1 tie.

The Tri County Cougars had a difficult year in the win and loss column. However, the team and coaches realized that winning is not everything. It is nice when you win, but sometimes the greatest lessons come when you have lost. We may not have had all the ability to be the winner, but the yeart and courage demonstrated by our athletes will be hard to surpass. Their efforts to continually improve, work hard, and never give up attitude, will be remembered by all.

The J.V. team went undefeated, and next year's team looks very promising.

The BOYS BASKETBALL team came away this season with an improved record, and the prospect of a much brighter future. The team this year started 9 different players during the course of the season. Co-captains Jim Thomas and Steve Robinson led the way for the Cougars on and off the court. These two seniors contributed greatly into making Tri County a respected opponent for any team they faced. Tom Carlstrom was another three year player who contributed greatly to building the basketball team. These three players, along with Bill Ryan, will be sorely missed next year.

Now you can enlist for two short years.

Sign up with the Army for just two years, and you could start college two years older, two years wiser, and as much as $9,200 richer.

It works like this:

Under the Veterans' Educational Assistance Program, you save up to $100 a month from your pay and this money is matched by Uncle Sam $2 for $1.

After 24 months of saving the maximum, you would have $7,200 in your educational fund.

If you qualify and select one of several specified skills, the Army will add an education bonus of $2,000, bringing your total to $9,200.

See if you qualify for this new program.

Serve your country as you serve yourself.
